weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wet-ting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. He is supposed to have received a fee for these services to the old French company of almost unprecedented size. It was reported at one time that his remuneration was about $2,000,000, but this was afterward state ed to be an exaggeration. But he has received many big fees besides that from the French company. In connection with reorganizing the firm of Decker, Howell & Co. in 1891 he received from the court a fee of $260,000 and got from the firm a present of a

Cheap Board for Students. How to furnish cheap board to college students is a problem that is vexing the authorities of many of our great institutions of learning, Harvard included. In the current number of McClure's George Kennan tells how they manage to give board, lodging and tuition at the Valparaiso university at Valparaiso, Ind., for the small sum of 38 cents a day. If payment is made in advance for the whole year the cost is only $120, or 36 cents a day. Although this institution has never had a gift of money from any source, it is fully equipped and pays its own way, having ample buildings and a staff of 162 professors and teachers and more than 5,000 students. > The cheapest effective police force in the world is the Northwest Mounted police, whose territory extends from Herschell Island to Kenora-the largest police area in the world. This entire field is covered by less than 700 men and 250 horses. The work of the police in the old days was rounding up horse thieves, whisky smugglers and Indian murderers. Now it is almost everything else; the chief relic of the old days being the horse thief, which in that country is a hard variety to exterminate. Many of the mounted police are now posted singly in the new towns, where they do local as well as patrol work.

A Massachusetts man, 83 years old, was so sure one year ago that he would die at the end of six months that he gave away all his property, which was considerable, to friends and charitable institutions, keeping only enough to provide for himself for the half year. He did not die as he had predicted, and the other day was taken to the almshouse, the persons whom he had benefited refusing to do anything for him. The Indianapolis Star takes occasion to point the following morals: Moral No. 1: "Don't prophesy unless ye know." Moral No. 2: Don't give away all your property without a strong string attached.

THE SUPREME POWER.

The bank power is the suprema power in this so-called Republic. Grover Cleveland said fifteen years ago that the banks had power to wreck the Government in forty eight hours, and he was in a position to know. The merchants tremble before the banks. The whole horde of speculators who seek profits and gains by means other than honest old hard work live in constant fear that the banks may slip a cog and all their plans be "pied." The farmers-the class on whom all earthly hopes depend-do not know when they put the cotton seed in the ground whether the crop, after all the year's hard labor for themselves and their families, will be worth thirteen cents or ten cents or seven cents, because they do not know what the bank power may decide to do. And as for the press, whether Democratic or Republican, it is simply a megaphone for the banks. The newspapers of the popular schools of politics pretend to scrap over many other matters, but when it comes to backing up and sustaining a Federal administration in any move that is acceptable to the banks, no matter by what party that administration was placed in power, those newspapers are all one in cheering the administration.

The National bank power is the supreme power on this continent. The banks want interest, not only on their own money, but on yours and your neighbor's. It is for interest-unearned increment-that they live and operate. The people's Government (so-called) has surrendered to the banks the most vital function of Government, namely: that of issuing money, and they have the power, whenever it suits their purpose, to make money scarce, throw labor out of employment, destroy the market for your products and starve you and your
